2006 Training Conference

“New Concepts, New Techniques... New Orleans”

September 11 - 14, 2006

New Orleans, LA

Announcing the IACA 2006 Training Conference!

This year's conference theme is "New Concepts, New Techniques...New Orleans." The theme reflects the idea that the profession of crime analysis is an evolving one, and we must stay mentally and technically sharp in order to evolve along with it. This year, we'll host sessions on topics such as effective crime prevention, crime forecasting, merging intelligence analysis with crime analysis, and communication with the public and each other. We hope to spark new ideas and give you new abilities that you can take back to your department and put into action.

This year's conference will feature four concurrent tracks: (1) Problem Analysis, (2) Tactical Analysis, (3) Technical Lab and (4) Special Topics. Stay tuned to the IACA website for more specifics on topics and speakers.

Who Should Attend?

Crime Analysts, Tactical Analysts, Intelligence Analysts, Administrative Analysts, Strategic Analysts, Research Analysts, Law Enforcement Officers & Officials, GIS Specialists, Educators, Criminal Justice Students and Crime Analysis Volunteers.

Keynote & Luncheon Speakers

The IACA has confirmed that David M. Kennedy, director of the Center for Crime Prevention and Control at John Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York, will be featured as the keynote speaker. Kennedy was the architect for Operation Ceasefire, which has won several prestigious awards. He has performed field work in numerous police departments and troubled communities, and written articles on police management, illicit drug and firearm markets, youth violence, and deterrence theory.

Course & Panel Topics

Some of this year's conference topics are: using geoprofiling to enhance tactical analysis; breaking information barriers; creating internal and citizen surveys; problem-oriented policing through the eyes of a police chief; identifying and analyzing crime patterns; long-term covert operations and the analyst; reducing vehicle burglaries; statistics; regional data sharing; and creating crime bulletins. Schedule updates will be posted regularly on the IACA website.

Hands-on Computer Labs

Several hands-on computer workshops will be offered at this year's conference, on topics such as MS Access, MS Excel, ArcView, Crystal Reports and Dreamweaver. Remember that these workshops will have limited seating on a first-come, first-served basis.
