

ABOUT THE IACA

The IACA is an all-volunteer, non-profit, 501(c)(3) professional association dedicated to providing training, networking and professional development opportunities to crime and intelligence analysts around the world.

The IACA was formed in 1990 to help analysts improve their skills and make valuable contacts, to help law enforcement agencies make the best use of crime analysis and to advocate for standards of performance and technique within the profession .

PROFESSIONAL TRAINING SERIES

The IACA offers nine different 2 to 5 day instructor-led courses. Since the series began in 2005, over 2200 analysts from the United States, Canada, Guatemala, and Trinidad and Tobago have attended an IACA instructor-led course.

In 2011, the IACA expanded the training series to offer online courses. Since then, more than 3000 students have attended either a webinar or a 12-week online course.

The class curricula are constantly evolving in order to stay current with the field. Successful completion of any IACA course results in a certificate of completion.

Webinars

With our webinars, analysts can receive quality training without leaving their desks. They can watch online and listen through their computer speakers. The IACA offers 1 to 2 hour webinars every few weeks. The cost is $10 for IACA members and $20 for non-members. IACA members can view some of the previously recorded webinars under the “Member Resources” section on the IACA website.

Online Courses

The IACA offers three online courses:

Fundamentals of Crime Analysis and Essential Skills I & II. Each of the Essential Skills courses covers 10 chapters of the IACA’s textbook, Exploring Crime Analysis, and they do not need to be taken in a particular order.

While the Essential Skills courses were created with IACA certification in mind, they are also an excellent foundation for the basic skills needed to perform crime analysis, regardless of the student’s intention to become certified.

Each course is 12 weeks long and is offered multiple times each year. Students should expect to spend 3-5 hours per week on coursework.

Hosting a Class at Your Agency

There are two options for hosting an IACA training course. An open class is one where the host agency provides the venue and can earn free seats as paid seats are filled. A closed/contract class is one where the agency pays a flat fee and controls who is able to attend the course. For more information or a price quote for a closed class, please email training@iaca.net.

Submitting New Courses

The IACA is always striving to ensure that our curricula are accurate, relevant and consistent with today’s best practices and standards. A committee is in place to review all our existing materials on a rotating basis as well as to review and critique new submissions in order to make sure they meet IACA standards. Instructors who have material they may be interested in selling to the IACA should send an email to training@iaca.net.

Becoming an IACA Instructor

We maintain a roster of eligible instructors for all our course topics. IACA instructors are paid a daily rate and all travel costs are paid by the association, in accordance with the IACA travel policy. In order to be considered as an instructor, analysts should submit a resume, cover letter, and completed application to training@iaca.net. A committee will then review the analyst’s work history, skills, and teaching experience. More details about the selection process and requirements can be found in the application, which is available at : http://bit.do/IACA_instructor_app.

Presenting a webinar is an excellent way to get speaking experience and build name recognition and only takes a few hours of time. We pay webinar instructors $50 per session, or if someone is unable to accept payment, we can offer credit to attend other sessions in exchange. All that’s needed is a computer, internet connection, and a phone or headset. For more information, contact us at training@iaca.net.
